Voters approve bond issue for GC schools

By BILL WINTER and SUSANNE INDELICATO
Granite City school voters gave resounding approval—12,119 to 8,677—Tuesday for issuance of $6,600,000 in 10-year working cash fund bonds to retire most of the district's short-term debt.

Losing by 293 votes, a 40-cent hike in the education fund tax rate limit garnered 10,002 positive votes but 10,295 negative. It may be resubmitted in the April 1985 election.

IMMEDIATE EFFORTS began

But other tax hike rejected

Wednesday to secure the lowest possible bond interest cost, and to maximize School District Nine's earnings from investment of the bond proceeds.

The election returns will be canvassed at the Nov. 13 Board of Education meeting, where initial discussions will take place on utilization of the bonds.

"We can operate," Board President David Partney said Tuesday night. Citizens and board members had warned during the campaign that the local community was in danger of losing operating control of the public schools here.

"BOND ISSUE PASSAGE has eliminated 85.52 percent of our current (Continued on Page 8)

Pool issue loses

"Disappointed" was Granite City Park Board President George Sykes' reaction Tuesday night when election returns indicated that the bond issue for a new Wilson Park swimming pool would fail.

"The important issue when we started was the idea that the people were entitled to the right to vote (on the bond issue). I'm pleased we gave them the opportunity. It appears the response was that we can't afford a pool," Sykes commented.

Only 42.59 percent of the 13,620 persons who voted on the pool issue were in favor of the new pool. The final tally was 5,801 in favor of the bond issue and 7,819 opposed.

SYKES NOTED that the Granite City School District bond and tax referendum proposals on the ballot may have contributed to the defeat of the pool bond issue.

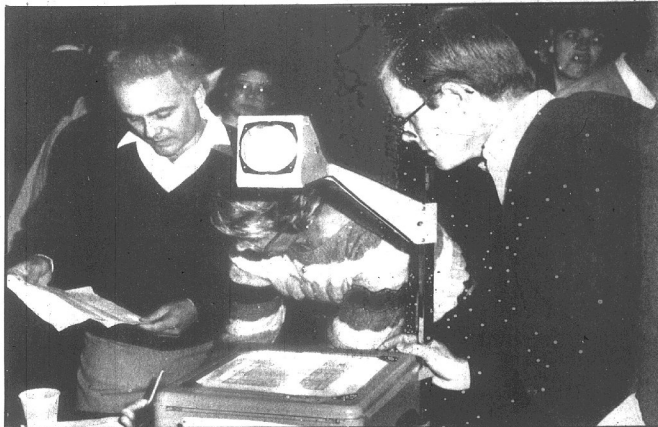

"If one issue of the three had to fail, I don't think you'd find that any one of us would disagree that it should be the park issue. Up until recent years, we could have had our own election...maybe people would have examined just that (the pool bond) issue.

"If we wanted to come back in April, we'd be right in the middle of a hot city election. A lot of people voted for president and not on the bond issue. I don't know whether that benefitted us or hurt us further."

"IT'S JUST hard to imagine the community voting for three tax increases," he continued. "We knew the schools would have at least one issue on the ballot. It's very possible if there had been just one issue, we would have won our issue. The school tax issue was critical to the school district. Our issue was important to us."

Sykes says the park district is still in business. "We'll make every effort (Continued on Page 11)

Allen tops Weber

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Bolstered by a heavy voter turnout in the Quad-City area, Granite City's Richard "Dick" Allen squeaked out a victory to be elected

RICHARD ALLEN
Wins state's attorney's post

Madison County state attorney Tuesday.
Allen, a Democrat, received 50.66 percent of the vote in the county to 49.34 percent for Weber, the Republican. The tallies gave Allen a 1,365 vote victory, 52,387 to 51,022, which averages just slightly more than six votes per precinct in the county's precincts.

IN THE Quad-City area (Granite City, Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships), Allen earned 81.6 percent of the vote, tallying 15,987 votes to Weber's 9,371 votes. There were 25,484 ballots cast in the Quad-City area, 15,392 from Granite City.

Weber spoke briefly to about 100 supporters in the GOP headquarters in downtown Edwardsville, expressing confidence as the returns began to come in Thursday night. He then went to the state's attorney's office to watch the returns turn against him.

By 10:30 p.m., Weber confided (Continued on Page 11)

Veterans to be honored

Veterans' Day 1984 marks the seventh anniversary of the return of the observance to Nov. 11 and the tradition of honoring all Armed Forces Veterans on the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month.
From 1971 to 1977, Veterans Day was observed on the fourth Monday in October in compliance with a 1968 law that changed most national holidays to Mondays.

HOWEVER, believing that the Nov. 11 date had a great significance for this country, Congress passed a law in 1977 which returned the holiday to Nov. 11. The law became effective in 1978, the 60th anniversary of the World War I armistice.

With the return of the observance to the armistice date of that "war to end all wars," this year's observance is an occasion to pay tribute to the 1,061,000 Americans who have died in the defense of their country in all American wars since 1776, and to more than 28 million living former (Continued on Page 7)

Don Garrett is elected first black on the county board

Newly-elected Madison County Board Member Don Garrett called his victory Tuesday over Republican John Huber an "across the board victory for the Democratic Party."

With his victory Tuesday, Garrett becomes the first black to serve on the board. "It proves that white political leaders can deliver for a black candidate," he noted. "Like blacks can deliver for white candidates."

GARRETT tallied 2,518 votes, or 71.13 percent, to defeat Republican John Huber, 53, who had 1,022 votes. Garrett earned his way into the general election by defeating incumbent Roderick Bauder of Venice in the Democratic primary. After Tuesday's election, Garrett called Bauder a "fantastic man" who "gave me great support."

Schuler's hat in the ring

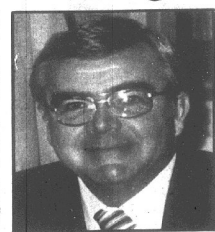

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler announced Wednesday afternoon that he will be a candidate for reelection in the April 1985 election.

"I took out petitions today. I am a candidate," the mayor since 1973 said. He said the petitions will be filed during the filing period, Jan. 14 through 21.

ASKED IF he expects a hard campaign, Schuler responded, "It's always a tough battle. Anytime you put your name on a ballot in Granite City, you have a tough time."

Granite City Township Assessor Von Dee Cruse earlier announced that he is a candidate for mayor and others are said to be considering running.

Schuler said he has not decided if he will run as part of a ticket or will run alone next April.

Bear Foot trucks feature on the 'Knight Rider' Sunday

Quad-City Area residents watching this Sunday's episode of the "Knight Rider" may notice something familiar about the cattle rustlers as well as their vehicles.

This episode of the show will feature the locally owned Bear Foot and Little Bear Foot 4x4 vehicles. Owners of the two "big wheel" trucks are Fred Shafer of Granite City and Jack Willman of Madison.

BOTH MEN also will appear in the "Knight Rider" as stunt drivers, doubling for the real cattle rustlers, "Big Ed Barton" and "Alfred Barton."

Shafer and Willman, whose customized Chevy trucks have been featured in several magazines, were contacted by Universal Studios earlier this year. Universal Studios agreed to pay all of Shafer's and Willman's expenses during their trip to Hollywood and during their stay.

PUT ON YEAR'S PROBATION

John J. Nolan, 20, of 1329 Carr St. was put on one-year probation and was fined $150 Monday afternoon by Associate Judge Nicholas Byrne on a property damage charge filed earlier that day by Steven Smith, 720 Washington Ave., Madison. Smith alleged his car window was broken and he was struck in the face while he was seated in his auto in the 1200 block of Meridian Street. Nolan pleaded innocent to a battery allegation.

there. In addition, the men were paid the standard rate for stunt drivers ($328 a day) during the filming.

The episode, entitled "The Bad Apples" features lots of monster truck action, including one scene where Bear Foot and Little Bear Foot unsuccessfully attempt to box-in KITT (Knight Industries Two Thousand) on a desert backdrop.

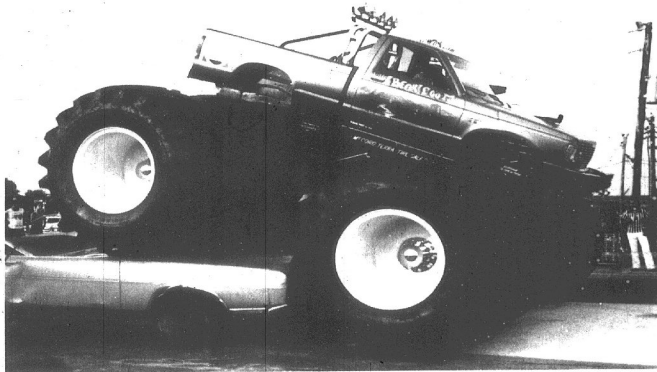

SHAFFER AND WILLMAN customized their first Chevy pickup about four years ago. The first vehicle began as a 1979 Chevy 4x4 truck. The men added five-ton military axles, a 454 Chevy big block engine, a one-ton military transfer case and four Goodyear Super Terra Grip 74x44 tires.

The end product was Bear Foot, a 12-foot-tall truck that can produce more than 800 horsepower.

The birth of Little Bear Foot occurred last year. The monster vehicle started out as a 1982 S-10 Chevy. The men added front and rear five-ton military axles, planetary gears, two Corvette rear ends and two military rear ends.

LITTLE Bearfoot weighs 12,000 pounds and stands 11 feet tall.

The vehicles were named after two pets of Shafer's—Sugar and Spice—who are black bears. Shafer and Willman hope to continue their newly-found television careers with vehicle appearances in other movies and shows.

Farmer to discuss no-till at Conservation Day Nov. 20

Jim Kinsella, a farmer from McLean County, will be one of several speakers discussing reduced tillage at the Madison County Conservation Day on Nov. 20. The meeting, scheduled to run from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., will be held at Walton's Restaurant on Route 159 south of Edwardsville. It is sponsored by the Madison County Extension Service and the Soil & Water Conservation District.

Kinsella has been farming all of his life, and the last nine years have been on his farm near Lexington. All 400 acres are in a no-till corn-soybean rotation. His no-till yields have equaled his crop yields from conventionally tilled fields in past years. In fact, he has even noticed an increase in his corn yields.

In addition to farming, Kinsella is also a distal sales manager for BASF Wyandotte Corporation. In the past, he has done extensive research in the area of no-till weed control.

Other topics to be addressed at the day-long event by University of Illinois specialists, farmers, and company representatives include sprayer calibration and accuracy, economic evaluation of tillage systems, herbicide update, and other reduced tillage suggestions.

Lunch will be provided by participating chemical companies. However, to provide an accurate count for the restaurant, advance meal registration is necessary. The program is open to the public, but only those with advance registration can be guaranteed the free lunch.

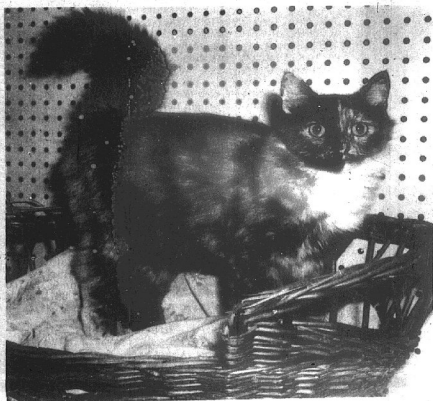

To make reservations for the meal, interested persons may contact the Madison County Extension office at 1-656-9400 by Nov. 12.

Students may study in Europe

"Qualified high school students are offered a unique opportunity to spend an academic year or six-week summer holiday in Sweden, Denmark, Norway, Finland, Iceland, Germany, Switzerland or Great Britain as part of the International (ASSE) Student Exchange Program," announced Warren Clague, Midwestern director of ASSE.

"Until a few years ago, only a fortunate few could afford to spend a school year or summer in Europe. Now, ASSE has changed all that," continued Clague.

Students, 15 to 18 years old, are selected on the basis of a good academic record, excellent character references, and a genuine desire to experience life abroad with a volunteer European host family.

"At least one member of the carefully-screened host family will be fluent in English," added Clague, "so that communication will not be a problem." Year students are provided language and culture instruction as part of the ASSE program.

The non-profit ASSE International (formerly American Scandinavian Student Exchange) is affiliated with the Swedish and Finnish Departments of Education and has been officially designated by the U. S. Information Agency as an Exchange Visitor Program.

Local students interested in receiving more information may contact David and Kathy Nenninger, 200 Wilson Park Lane, Granite City, Ill., 62040, telephone 876-4192.

Bids for police cars center stage at GC Council again

Although Granite City aldermen agreed to readvertise for bids on the city police cars last month, discussion surrounding the last series of bids was again a topic Wednesday night.

Several aldermen unsuccessfully pushed to have the last bid considered approved. The offer, from Dave Croft Motors, in Collinsville, would save the city an estimated $4,000 from the next lowest bidder.

This savings would come about since Croft has been awarded the state contract for police cars. Since the state orders such a large number of cars, it is offered a better price than smaller municipalities. But these smaller entities are offered an option to buy from the state police bid.

Mayor Paul Schuler said he does not understand why the state contractors are not accepted. "I'd suggest we buy from the state bid," he said. "If you can save the city some money, save the city some money."

Schuler went on to say that he could not believe the aldermen's first concern was not with getting the best deal on the cars. "You're talking about giving away $4,000," he said.

But Alderman Woodrow "Woody" Moad disagreed, saying that the aldermen were taking other matters into consideration—not just the price. He still contends that buying the autos from an out-of-town dealer would cost extra manhours concerning the servicing of the cars.

But Schuler reiterated that the cars do not have to be serviced at the dealer from which they were purchased, but can have their daily maintenance checks done at a local station. These checks are considered adequate by Croft to keep the cars under warranty.

Alderman Carl Kittel, a member of the police committee, said he is not in favor of buying the Dodge car from any dealer. "Initial cost of the car doesn't mean a d--- thing if you're going to have more down time on the Chrysler," he said. "The (police) chief has the maintenance on these cars written down. So not only the initial costs need to be considered."

Alderman Paul Fisk made a motion to purchase five cars through the state contract with Croft, but he withdrew his motion later. His motion was ruled out of order because the council had already voted to readvertise for bids two weeks earlier.

Since Police Chief Ronald Viezer said he would not write out new specifications on the cars, council members agreed to readvertise with no specifications.

This will mean that any car dealer—including some of the smaller car lines like Toyota, Nissan and Volkswagen—will be able to qualify for the bid.

Viezer said these smaller line car dealers have been trying to break in to the police car market for some time and expects the council to receive lots of bids.

The deadline for reception of the bids has been set for Nov. 27.

Amphibious landings are everyday work for former resident

By CHERYL MAY CAMPBELL
Ask someone what they know about amphibious landings and they'll probably tell you about the historic Marine assault on Iwo Jima or the Allied invasion on Normandy. But ask Joseph Manners, formerly of Granite City, and he'll tell you what he did at work today.

To Manners, a Navy interior communications electrician second class, aboard the amphibious dock landing ship USS Monticello, complex amphibious landings are part of every day. "We transport the landing force and their equipment," said Manners, 30, the son of James and Annalisa Manners of 7 Harrison Ave. "I ensure a smooth flow of communications between the ship and the landing forces."

The 910-foot Monticello, homeported in San Diego, Calif., transports troops, equipment and supplies needed for amphibious assault, including the landing craft that eventually carry it all to the beachhead.

A qualified enlisted surface warfare specialist, Manners is the leading petty officer in the 17-man electrical division in the ship's engineering department.

"Our equipment is spread out all over the ship, from the bridge to the engine room," he says. "We work on all the shipboard communications, alarms, indicators and the gyro-compass."

"I'm responsible for the sound-powered phones," says Manners.

"We have a 100-line system that keeps me busy."

According to Manners, the key to maintaining such a variety of gear is in knowing the system and their idiosyncracies.

"It's usually the same type of problem that keeps popping up," he said. "After a while, it's almost predictable. The biggest satisfaction is being able to fix something so it stays fixed."

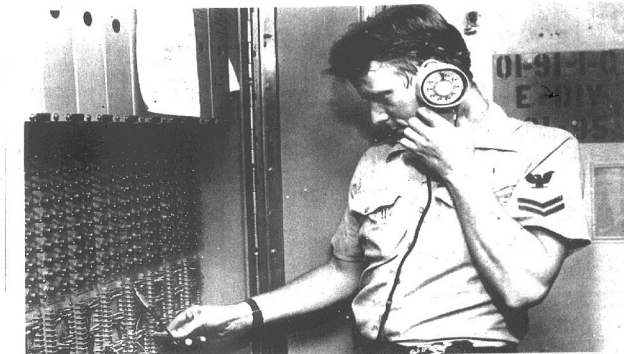

A 1972 graduate of Granite City High School, Manners worked as a draftsman before enlisting in the Navy in May 1974.

After boot camp at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center, north of Chicago, and specialized job training, Manners served in the Philippines aboard the fast supply ship USS San Jose before leaving active duty in January 1978.

A part-time student, Manners worked full-time until he lost his job. "I started going to school full-time," he said. "Then over the next few years, my wife had two more kids and suddenly, I missed the job security the Navy offered."

Four years after leaving, Manners returned to active duty in September 1982 and reported aboard the Monticello that October.

In addition to her regular 350-man crew, the Monticello can accommodate more than 300 combat-ready landing troops and their supplies and equipment. Fitted with a helicopter flight deck over a large, floodable ducking well, the ship can carry three of the Navy's 135-foot utility landing craft or up to 21 Mike-6 boats—the Navy's 56-foot amphibious craft—each capable of transporting troops and cargo directly onto the beach for quick unloading.

The Monticello recently returned from a six-month western deployment, the second for Manners.

During this cruise, the ship made port calls in Japan, Okinawa, Korea, Guam, Hong Kong and the Philippines. "I enjoyed the deployment," said Manners. "My wife and kids flew over and met me in the Philippines. We had a good time and visited her family."

Manners is married to the former Miss Evelyn Lazarte of the Philippines. During the deployment, she lived in Portland with their children—Jason, 11, Julia, 4 and Jezreel, 2.

With more than six years naval service, Manners plans to continue his career. "The Navy's good for some people," he said. "It matured me and taught me that not everything is free and easy."

Burglary arrest in Pontoon Beach

Aided by a concerned resident's call reporting a burglary in progress, Pontoon Beach police apprehended a 21-year-old Pontoon Beach man late last week just moments after the incident. At approximately 2:30 p.m., village police received an anonymous call which stated that a burglary was in progress at Rural Route Two, Box 362, on Route 162. The caller managed a brief description of the alleged perpetrator and that was enough to help police make an arrest.

When the responding officer, Police Chief Chet Ballew, arrived on the scene, he noticed a box containing several guns, cash and ammunition lying on the ground near just north of the home. Ballew requested backup from the Madison County Sheriff's Department. Ballew included the description of the anonymous caller provided in his report to Madison County. As it turned out, that description was enough for sheriff's department officials to question Michael A. Willings, 31, of 5 Tulip Court.

Battlin' Bears earn playoff bid

The Washington University of St. Louis soccer team has been seeded third in the Great Lakes Region for the NCAA Division III playoffs. The Bears are 14-3-2 which includes an overtime loss to UMSL. The playoffs will be held Saturday in Delaware, Ohio. David Sheikh, a 1982 graduate of Granite City North, is a fullback for the Battling Bears. He is a sophomore in the School of Engineering.

Earlier this year, another Granite City graduate, Philip Beljanski, who graduated from Washington University last year donated soccer uniforms to the whole team, in memory of a teammate who was killed in an automobile last year at Christmastime. Each uniform has the boy's number on the back as well as the teammate's No. 5 on the sleeve.

CLOSE SCRUTINY. The latest Granite City precinct computer printout is quickly scanned for important vote tallies Tuesday night at the Granite City Township Hall. Granite City School Board Attorney William Mack G. Johnson, center, checks school bond issue and education fund tax increase totals as Director of Parks and Recreation David Nolan, behind Schooley, looks at the park district pool bond issue vote tally. The last printout, of Granite City Precinct 27, finally became available shortly after 1 a.m. Wednesday morning. (Press-Record Photo by Patrick Foley) standoff in the district's portion of Venice Township. The 10,002 to 10,295 tally on changing the education rate limit from $2.55 to $2.95 consisted of tentative totals of 7,136 to 7,086 in Granite City, 1,980 to 2,078 in Nameoki, 773 to 991 in Chouteau and 113 to 140 in Venice Township.

AS THE FINAL VOTE tally glowed on an overhead projection screen Tuesday evening, board members and school officials who had gathered in the Knights of Columbus Hall expressed mixed emotions at the bittersweet victory-defeat.

Citizens for Continued Education Chairman Mack G. Johnson attempted to encourage the group. "We worked very hard. We won one."

"It looks like we'll suffer on the other one, but we're not dead. We can continue quality education for the children," he remarked.

BOARD PHES. PARTNEY commented, "We can operate. We are going to have to come back with a proposition in April. But I'm tickled to death we got the main one—the bond issue. Without it, we could not survive."

"I think we can go on with our business as usual. We may have to tighten our belts, because we do need another million dollars."

The $6.6 million maximum available from bonds compares with a $7.6 million cumulative operating debt projected for June 1985.

Partney said he believes strong public support of the schools is evidenced by the passage of the bond issue, but he said he was "a little aggravated" at some public officials who did not publicly support the school proposals.

THE NARROW LOSS of the proposal for a new education rate ceiling, Partney said, probably will encourage the board to consider putting the plan back on the ballot in April.

There is speculation that judges might not consider the topic a sufficient emergency to justify scheduling an earlier election.

Johnson said he thinks that the bond issue passed and the tax referendum failed because voters "knew we were in debt and knew we had to get out of debt."

"THE OTHER MILLION dollars, for the education fund... well, they were concerned as a community as to what this district would do with it."

But, he added, the community seems to understand the school district's situation because the bonds were authorized and the tax proposal nearly carried.

"They bailed us out of debt, but they were leery of taking it all the way. We needed both proposals desperately."

"THE POSITIVE thing tonight is that we showed to ourselves and to the metropolitan area that Granite City does care, that it has fine people."

"This community has had a lot of adversity... layoffs and unemployment."

"But despite that fact, we have now given a positive message to everyone, including industries that may want to come into this area."

Stolen car is recovered

With assistance from the Madison County Sheriff's Department, Pontoon Beach police were able to recover a stolen car from that village late last week, just hours after it had been reported missing. Martha A. Martin of West Virginia, who was visiting friends in Pontoon Beach, reported her 1980 Mazda stolen from the driveway at 31 Victoria Drive. According to the victim, the car was parked there at 9:45 p.m.

Moments after reporting to Pontoon Beach police that the vehicle had been stolen, Madison County Sheriff's Department officials recovered the abandoned vehicle in rural Madison County.

The victim, who was due to begin her trip home Saturday, left on schedule.

'Cooking a la Heart' class 'is called 'a rousing success'

Members of this fall's "Cooking a la Heart" class, sponsored by St. Elizabeth Medical Center and the SEMC Auxiliary, recently received gifts of aprons and oven mitts commemorating their completion of the six-week course.

The participants learned how to prepare healthier balanced meals, with a special emphasis on diets for heart patients and their families, as well as for patients on restricted diets due to other medical reasons.

"The course was a rousing success. Participants heaped praise on Excy Basuel, registered dietitian at SEMC and course instructor. We had the time of our lives," said Florence Simpson, a member of the class. "It was excellent. I think everybody was in there to learn."

Mrs. Simpson said class members were given a questionnaire to fill out at the beginning of the first session. "One of the questions was, 'Do you think low-cholesterol food could be served to guests?' I wrote a great big 'NO!' Excy changed that," Mrs. Simpson said.

Mrs. Simpson and her classmates were surprised and pleased by the variety of foods served in the class. "We had steak, chicken, fish, lasagna and kabobs," she said. "You can eat almost anything. You just have to watch your preparation. They don't take too many things away from you. You get desserts and there was a grand fresh fruit salad."

Karen Ambuehl also said she enjoyed the class. "Excy did a real good job," she said. "I knew a lot about what we're supposed to eat and what we're not supposed to eat, but the class helped me more because she cooked some things and showed us how. I've read a lot of books on it, but an actually seeing someone do it, it sticks in your mind better."

Mrs. Ambuehl emphasized that the class was fun, as well as informative. "The education was the most important, but the cooking and the sampling were the most enjoyable," she said. "I would definitely recommend the class to anyone. Even if you weren't trying to cook for someone who had a heart condition, it's just good to know. It really makes you conscious of what you should be doing."

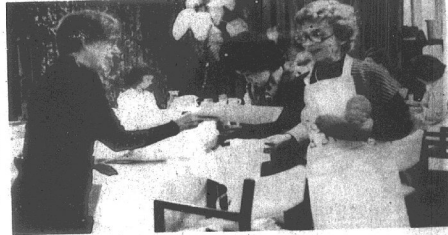

Also present at the party which marked the final class meeting was Sally Gracy, president of the SEMC Auxiliary. She said her organization donated funds to help meet class expenses so that class members would not have to pay as much. "We felt it was a good thing for the heart patients," she said, "and a nice community project."

Mrs. Gracy also was impressed by the cooking. "The food was very tasty without salt, sugar or high cholesterol," she said.

As for the response of the participants, Mrs. Gracy said, "They seemed to be most appreciative of the classes and our Auxiliary's contribution. We were happy to do it. We make the money to give it back."

Plans are being made for a repeat performance of this popular course. For more information or to make reservations for the next time the course is offered, interested persons may call the SEMC Public Relations Department at 738-3167.

MAN OF THE YEAR. Sen. Sam M. Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville), center, is presented with the Man of the Year Award by Thomas Carley, president of the Southern Illinois Division of the Horseman's Benevolent and Protective Association, during the association's annual dinner in Belleville. Also presenting congratulations to the senator was Ed Flint, national president of the Horse Breeders Protective Association.

Hartigan leads crackdown on repair scams

As part of an accelerated crackdown on home repair scams, Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan filed consumer fraud suits in four counties, charging contractors with construction fraud against 48 different homeowners.

The suits were filed in circuit courts in Madison, St. Clair, Champaign and Saline counties. The complaints ask for full restitution to the homeowners, injunctions against the contractors and civil penalties of $50,000 for each violation.

Local defendants named in the case include: (Madison County—Edwardsville) Buford Mitchell Jr. of Collinsville, doing business as State Home Improvement and State Termite and Waterproofing Company. The suit involves garage construction and basement waterproofing.

All of the complaints are civil lawsuits filed under the Illinois Consumer Fraud and Deceptive Business Practices Act, Hartigan said. The Attorney General's Office investigated the cases in Madison, St. Clair and Champaign counties before the suits were filed. In Saline County, State's Attorney David Hauptmann and the Attorney General's Mt. Vernon Regional Office staff coordinated the investigation and filed the lawsuit together.

"Many of these homeowners are senior citizens," Hartigan pointed out. "With these multiple lawsuits, we are serving notice that the state of Illinois will not tolerate fraud against the elderly or any other Illinois Consumers."

"A majority of contractors in the state are honest businessmen. But we intend to crack down hard on those few who violate consumer fraud laws. Meanwhile, the Consumer Protection Division is continuing its investigation of fraud in the construction industry in Illinois. More lawsuits are expected in the near future."

DUI actions

Bond was set at $10,000 in Judge George Moran Jr. for Michael Kouhnt, 26, St. Louis, motorcyclist who faces 10 charges. He pleaded innocent and was freed on $1,000 cash bail. Halted early Thursday on Madison Avenue, he was arrested for an improper muffler, a 23rd Street stoplight violation and a suspended license. He also was booked on 1984 Granite City warrants of DUI obstructing justice, suspended license and improper muffler, a 1982 Granite City muffler charge, a 1982 state police DUI warrant and a 1984 DUI charge.

Bruce Snyder, 24, of 2823 Denver St. was captured late last week on the 19th Street overpass after a chase in which his car is said to have spun several times in avoiding roadblocks. Eleven charges were filed. He was booked for DUI, transporting beer, passing Madison Avenue stoplights at Niedringhaus Avenue and 20th Street, passing stop signs at 16th and State Streets and 19th and Benton Streets, fleeing to elude police, speeding, driving with a revoked license and an invalid registration and resisting arrest.

James D. Marler, 51, of 2701 Kirkpatrick Homes was arrested at 4 p.m. Monday in a pickup truck in the 2300 block of Washington Avenue, where officers alleged he was driving under the influence of alcohol and driving with a revoked license.

Harvey F. Copeland, 32, of 2712 Lincoln Ave., at Washington Avenue and 23rd Street last week. He agreed to take a breathalyzer test and also was charged with speeding. He pleaded innocent in a court appearance and was released on a $3,000 recognizance bond.

MAN DISPLAYS KNIFE

After allegedly being in an argument with a couple in a truck at Jack-in-the-Box, 3530 Nameoki Road during the weekend, Joseph Rayoun, 19, of 8 Fountainbleau, was arrested and charged on a city complaint on disorderly conduct.

Although the police could not find the knife, customers and witnesses to the incident said they saw Rayoun flourishing an open blade knife and calling the people obscene names. Rayoun was released on $52 cash bail.

Thompson announces housing grants

Governor James R. Thompson has announced that 16 Illinois localities, including Madison County, will receive more than $7 million to help increase the housing market for low-income persons through the Rental Rehabilitation Program.

"This program, which is funded directly through the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, will provide money to local units of government to help upgrade privately owned substandard structures," Thompson said.

Madison County will receive $138,000 in the program.

Rent subsidies for initial lower-income occupants also will be available through the Rental Rehabilitation Program. These cash subsidies will be based on the fair market rental price for the area and the tenant's income level. Each $5,000 of the rehabilitation work will be eligible for one rental subsidy.

The directly funded HUD grants go to communities with a population greater than 50,000. The maximum rehabilitation grant per project is $50,000.

Last week, Illinois received $1.4 million to administer this program to 44 communities with populations under 50,000.

Ella Eoff

Gulena West

Former GC resident to undergo kidney transplant

Since she was four years old, Ella (Rodgers) Eoff has suffered from an acute and chronic kidney disease called nephritis. The disease developed because of a virus that settled in her kidney.

Now 20 years old, Mrs. Eoff hopes to rid herself of the kidney problem through the generosity of her sister, 28-year-old Gulena West. Mrs. West is donating one of her kidneys to Mrs. Eoff in a transplant operation scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 13, at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis.

The sisters currently reside in Bourbon, but the family, including parents Verlin and Norma Rodgers, sister Wynona Werley and twin brothers Shane and Shannon, once lived in Pontoon Beach.

An aunt, Margaret Mayes, lives in Granite City, as does a grandfather.

W.C. Whitt, who has made Granite City his home for 45 years.

According to the sisters' aunt, Mr. Rodgers once worked for Siebold Trucking Company as a driver, and Mrs. Rodgers was employed with Rees's drug store in the Belleme Village Shopping Center for six years.

An uncle, Ed Mayes, lives in Collinsville and recently raised $1,450 in donations for the transplant operation.

Mrs. Rodgers told the Press-Record that Medicare will pay some of the transplant expenses for the sisters, but she said, the family may have to pay for uncovered medical expenses. The family currently is not asking for contributions toward the transplant expenses.

Change in workmen's compensation saved business $100 million

State Representative Sam Wolf (D-Granite City) has received word from the governor's office regarding a $100 million savings for Illinois businesses last year as a direct result of legislation that he supported in 1982 which changed the workmen's compensation laws.

"I am very pleased to see such a large direct benefit for businesses in Illinois from this measure designed to improve the business climate in this state, and especially in this area," Wolf said. "I believe this should stand out as proof to businessmen and women here that Illinois legislators are concerned about their needs and are responding to them."

Senate Bill 1496 of the 82 General Assembly, which became effective in 1983 provided for a change in a law ending collective price-setting agreements and instituting competitive pricing persuaded many insurance companies to relinquish high profits to stay competitive with their agents and to continue to furnish Workmen's Compensation Insurance Coverage for Illinois-based companies.

"Legislation that we supported in the General Assembly is increasing competition and consequently lowering the insurance premiums for workmen's compensation insurance," Wolf said. "It is good to see the free market system working so effectively as reported by the Illinois Department of Insurance. The benefit of Illinois businesses cannot help but improve the economy across the board as the savings trickle down to employees and consumers," Wolf concluded.

'Diabetes Update' to air on cable TV

Lifetime cable television stations, including South-Western Cable TV, Inc., will present "Diabetes Update '84," a "Lifetime Information" on Wednesday, Nov. 14, from 7 to 10 p.m. The three-hour live program, produced in cooperation with the American Diabetes Association, will allow viewers to join millions of other cable subscribers across the country in learning first-hand about diabetes.

American Diabetes Association officials say viewers will be able to call toll-free at 1-800-828-LIFE and have their specific questions on diabetes answered by a panel of doctors who specialize in treating diabetes.

This telecast is geared to help the American Diabetes Association and Lifetime accomplish a mutual goal: to educate the public about diabetes, the nation's third leading killer disease. The telecast, officials hope, also will help increase public awareness of the ADA's continuing work and progress made possible by the support of the public.

SOME TALL TALES ABOUT ELECTRIC HEAT PUMPS WOULD MAKE PAUL BUNYAN BLUSH

American Folklore is full of tall tales, and Paul Bunyan, the legendary lumberjack, was one of the tallest. But lately we've heard some stories that would even challenge old Paul's credibility.

There's a rumor going around that electric heat pumps are inefficient and expensive to operate in Illinois. It's time to chop down that fairy tale right at the stump.

The truth is an electric heat pump is the most energy-efficient heating system you can buy.

No exceptions.

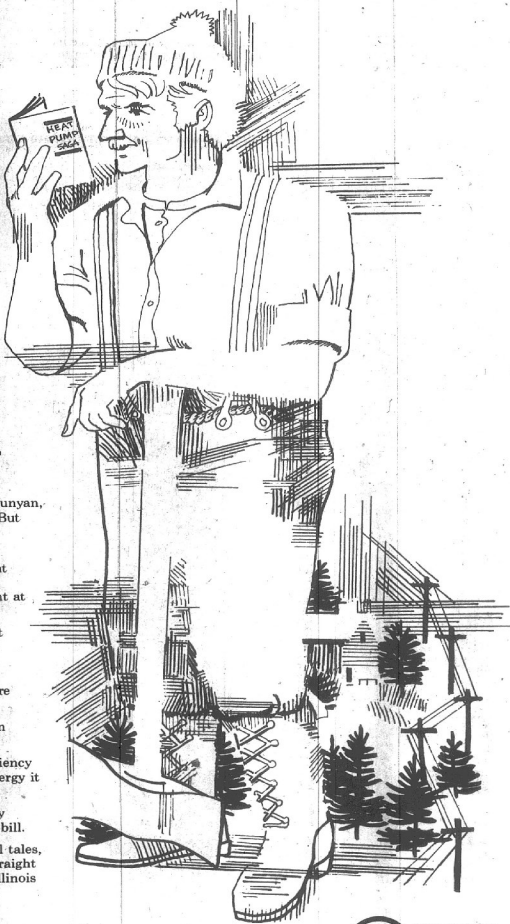

It's the only system that actually provides more energy than it consumes.

That's why so many smart people right here in Illinois have chosen electric heat.

Take a look at the numbers. Even a high efficiency gas furnace will only deliver about 95% of the energy it uses in the form of useful heat.

But an electric heat pump is over 150% energy efficient! That adds up to real savings on your utility bill.

If hard facts make more sense to you than tall tales, you'll want to talk to someone who has all the straight answers—the Residential Marketing Advisor at Illinois Power Company.

THREE CHARGES FILED

Gary Sipole, 23, of 3223 Maryville Road, was arrested after he allegedly tried to elude the police at the corner of St. Clair and Myrtle Avenues late last week.

According to police reports, officers noticed an expired license plate on the vehicle while it was stopped at the intersection and, while the police attempted to turn their car around and talk to the driver, Sipole allegedly sped east St. Clair to Wayne Avenue, and continued to Dale Avenue where he stopped. Sipole allegedly became abusive to the officers at this time.

He was charged with no valid driver license, invalid registration, reckless driving and resisting arrest. Sipole was released at 7:30 p.m. on $104 cash bail.

The funeral was Wednesday, Nov. 7, and burial took place at Calvary Cemetery, Edwardsville.

But Schuler's plea was overruled by other council members who feel that must now be covered in gravel, sand, dirt, gravel, slag, grains, coal, coke, shingles, wood, brush, tree trimmings, used building materials and loose debris.

The ordinance pertains to trucks, trailers, semi-trailers or dump trucks with an unloaded weight that is greater than 4,000 pounds. Vehicles owned by government entities are exempt, however.

The fine for violation of the ordinance has been set between $25 and $100 for each offense.

Only two aldermen cast dissenting votes on the ordinance. Alderman Everett Morlen said earlier that he thinks the ordinance will "smother" trucking companies and cause a loss of jobs in the city.

Alderman Stephen Sattich, also voting against the ordinance, expressed concern about possible effects the ordinance would have on trucking companies.

Amendment clears up pay schedule error

Granite City aldermen approved an amendment to an ordinance Wednesday night, which will add six employees to the list of those given a one-time lump sum payment for fiscal year 1983-84.

According to the amendment, these employees were omitted in error from the payment schedule contained in Ordinance 3991.

Those employees added to the law include five street department employees and one sanitation employee.

CAR COLLIDES WITH FENCE

Glen A. Hutter, 19, of 2560 Northbridge was charged at 6:35 p.m. Wednesday with leaving the scene of a traffic accident. It was alleged that his car, westbound on St. Clair Avenue, had just hit a cyclone fence at the D. Dickerson residence, 3101 Myrtle Ave.

Engineer to investigate bus garage

Granite City Acting Engineer Ed Schulze told council members Wednesday night, that he will investigate complaints received about construction of a large garage on Keith Drive.

Schulze agreed to investigate after several council members said they had been receiving complaints from their constituents about the structure.

According to Alderman Woodrow "Woody" Moad, the garage is larger than the house itself, and is being built to accommodate two buses.

Schulze said one of his workers reviewed the building permit and he was under the impression that a structure in the city limits could be up to 35 feet tall.

City Attorney John Papa agreed that the main structure of city buildings may be that tall, but he said that accessory buildings to the main structure may only be 15 feet tall.

Moad also said he wanted Schulze to give the council an answer as to why the matter had not come before the Granite City Plan Commission, before the permit was approved.

FOUR WARRANTS SERVED

Serving warrants, Granite City police on Tuesday charged Curtis R. Lewis, 22, of Jorden Avenue with contributing to the delinquency of a minor; Richard H. Evans, 21, of 2132 Grand Ave., theft and no valid driver license; Catherine R. Hefferman, 43, of 3012 Kirkpatrick Homes, truancy; and Bryan L. Boss, 22, of 1604 Kirkpatrick Homes, disobeying a stop sign.

HELPING THE UNITED WAY. Seventy five members of the National Honor Society at Granite City High School will solicit contributions at banks, shopping centers and stores this weekend on behalf of the Tri-Cities Area United Way drive. Friday evening and Saturday morning, the honor students will attempt to raise enough to put this year's campaign over the top. The goal this year is $650,000 and the campaign currently stands at 97 percent. Last year the Honor Society raised $703. From the left are NHS members Mike Millard and Kathy Hutchings, President Andy Loftus, Treasurer Linda Dupont and Secretary Beth Bodnam.

Look to legislators on school financing ideas

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Granite City School Board President David Partney said Wednesday he plans to encourage local voters and taxpayers to consult with their state legislators for ideas on improving the financing of school systems.

Voters gave decisive approval on Tuesday to a working cash fund bond issue that will provide $6,600,000 to restructure the operating debt of School District Nine.

An increase of 40 cents in the education fund limit failed to pass by a margin of less than 300 in Tuesday's balloting, receiving more than 10,000 favorable votes.

Partney said the results partly resolve but do not completely end the school district's severe financial problem.

The problem had caused concern that programs would be eliminated, that the district itself might cease to exist, and that various neighborhoods and school buildings might be added to neighboring districts.

With voters responding so wholeheartedly to show their support for the local public schools, Partney said, he doubts that extracurricular programs will be terminated.

However, spending will be reviewed to pinpoint possible cost reductions, and the way the bond issue funds should be handled will be analyzed to make sure Granite City District taxpayers get the most benefit.

If additional state school aid is appropriated this fall, its timing may have an effect on when the education rate ceiling increase is resubmitted to voters, Partney commented.

YMCA offering child care program before-after school

The Tri-City Area YMCA has developed a new program called the Before and After School Co-ed Child Care Program. This program enables parents to drop their children off at the YMCA on their way to work and pick them up at the end of their way home.

The YMCA has purchased a new bus which will deliver children to their schools in the mornings and pick them up at the schools in the afternoons. The program will provide helpful game activities.

The Before-school care will begin at 7 a.m. daily and the After-school care operates from school dismissal time to 6 p.m. This program coordinates with the public school calendar. Individuals may sign up for one or both sessions (before and after school).

The cost is $10 a week for the before school or $12 for the after school program, or $22 for both sessions for YMCA members. For non-members the cost is $15 before school and $18 for after school, or $33 for both sessions per week. Parents should register children one week in advance.

With the closing of the YMCA residential hall, the "Y" will be able to provide more youth programs.

The Before and After school program is designed for the working parent. This program can ease parents' mind knowing their children are well-supervised and having fun at the same time. Transportation will be furnished by the YMCA to and from school. Parents are reminded to pick their children up at 6 p.m.

FLEE FROM STORE, CAUGHT

Three young Venice boys, one of them 10 years old, were captured by police after a foot chase from a Nameoki Village Shopping Center store area Wednesday evening. Batteries and cordless microphones were recovered from their jackets and two boys, aged 14 and 13, were transported to the Madison County juvenile detention home at 11:25 p.m. Wednesday.

For October Graves selected as P-R Athlete of the Month

By JOE THOMPSON
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — It is one of those moments that remains frozen in time. Shane Cole, the quarter-back, lofts a long, arching pass toward a corner of the goal line. Less than two minutes were left in the game and the Granite City High Warriors desperately were trying to pull out their first Homecoming victory in a long, long while.

Cole's pass drifts slightly behind the receiver. He adjusts his 3-1, 160-pound frame slightly, catches the ball, and falls forward barely across the goal line. Touchdown Granite City!

THOUGH THE score puts the Warriors ahead, their lead is far from safe, as the Cahokia Comanches, their opponent, begin a march of their own: when should pop in front of a Cahokia pass but the same player, who scored the go-ahead score. He intercepts. Victory saved!

Eric Graves, a senior, was the Warriors' Homecoming hero those two plays, and one of the heroes that night.

Then, however, the dark, curly-haired Graves cut quite a swath for the Warriors this season. He caught 23 passes for 435 yards. He intercepted four passes. In addition to his Homecoming touchdown winning catch, he nabbed three other interceptions for touchdowns. Graves' grabs weren't of minor proportions. His average per catch was 18.9 yards.

"That's pretty good," said Warrior coach Ron Yates.

GRAVES has been selected the Press-Record Athlete-of-the-Month for October. He was chosen by the Press-Record sports staff.

Graves is joined by other area athletes who have been selected on an Honorable Mention List. They are Job Blasingame and Scott Grote of the Warrior soccer team; Patrick Glasper of the Madison High soccer squad; Cassandra White of the Venice High volleyball team and Kelly Anderson of the Granite City Center volleyball squad.

It is ironic Graves should have played so well Homecoming night. In truth, he'll tell you there isn't one place he can truly call home.

GRAVES is in his second year at Granite City. Before coming here, he attended school in Leavenworth, Kas. Graves' school addresses read like a travel brochure. He's lived in Florida, Georgia, Oklahoma, Texas and North Carolina. He lived for three years in Germany, his longest stay at one place.

Graves was born in Harrisburg, Penn. "I was just there for a couple of weeks," he says with a smile. Then it was time to move on.

The reason Eric has moved so frequently is that his father, Eric Sr., is a Major in the U. S. Army. The family, which includes his mother and a sister, Yvette, a sophomore at Granite City High, presently is based at the Army Depot.

ERIC smiles broadly when thinking back on the Homecoming victory. It was something special, too, considering he hasn't had many opportunities to call home — at least not for long.

"It meant a lot," he says. "There's good news. Eric says his family plans to remain in Granite City, at least until Yvette graduates."

"This is a nice place," he says. Indeed, he puts Granite City near the top of the list of places he's lived, although, "I really liked Florida."

GRAVES said he has made a lot of friends here. But it's not just his friends who are happy he'll complete his senior year here. The coaches are ecstatic.

It is no mystery why Graves had such a splendid football campaign. He runs the 40-yard dash in 4.6 seconds, and is a superior jumper. "He's just a good, all-around athlete," said Yates.

Graves said he plans to go out for the basketball team. He averaged 14 points per contest at Leavenworth High School at a forward position.

It's in track, however, where Graves' athletic talents have brought him his greatest glory. In his first year out for the Warrior track squad last spring, Graves set school records in the high jump (6-10), long jump (22'10"), and triple jump (44'6"). He placed sixth and fifth respectively in the high jump and long jump at the state meet.

It's no wonder Graves' idol also is well known for his track exploits. "I really like Carl Lewis," said Graves.

We all know that Carl Lewis won four gold medals in the Olympics this past summer. It's something Graves is also shooting toward four years from now.

"I'd love to go to the Olympics," said Graves, who also hopes to play football and run track in college, preferably at Missouri.

The next summer Olympics will be held in Seoul, Korea. That's one place Eric hasn't been.

YET, KELLY ANDERSON (Center volleyball): Lady Star coach Clabbe Briggs said Kelly was one of the players she recruited. "I think she's a very good player," said Briggs. "She has excellent technique. She has talent and she's really a nice person."

"I thought in the middle of the season she put everything together. She spiked really well. She worked very hard on her serve. She lived up to my expectations of her. I thought she was one of our strongest players."

SCOTT GROTE (Warrior soccer): Grote was the Warriors' leading scorer with eight goals, a feat he accomplished despite playing much of the time on the back line. He was the team's main scorer down the stretch. "I thought Scott played his best at the end of the year," Warrior coach Gene Baker said. "That's the mark of a good competitor, a true quality player. He played well in the games that were important. I'm very happy with Scott's play at the end of the year."

As for Grote's eight goals, Baker pointed out, "We needed his scoring to get as far as we did."

PATRICK GLASPER (Trojan soccer): The Trojans started the season without a goalkeeper, until Glasper stepped forward. "I think a lot about his intestinal fortitude," Trojan soccer coach Gene Briggs said. "He not only learned the position, but worked hard to do well at it."

Briggs pointed out that Glasper is blessed with quickness, jumping ability, reaction time and hand-eye coordination. It was through hard work, Briggs said, that he made the most of his ability.

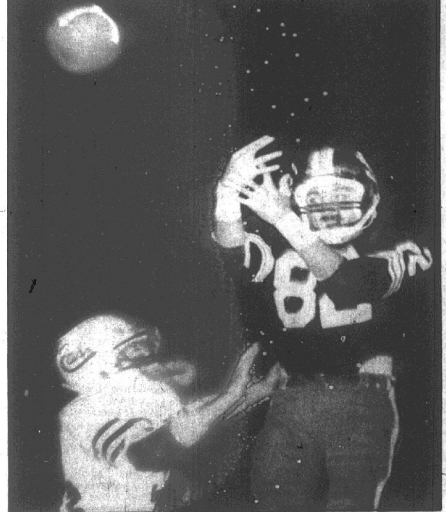

Any skills he derived he worked hard to gain. He seemed to have done a good job.

CASSANDRA WHITE (Venice volleyball): White was a captain for the Red Devillets, and performed ably. "She was our best server and our best spiker," Red Devillete coach Clinton Harris, Jr. said. "She has good jumping ability. She's well-disciplined. She listens to what people tell her and works hard at what she does."

KEV BLASINGAME (Warrior soccer): It was quite a month for the Warriors' goalkeeper, who capped it off with his selection to the All-State team. It was in the Granite City Tournament of Champions Blasingame, perhaps, sparked his brightest.

"He played great in our tournament, taking us all the way to second place. He was very pre-dominant in our getting that far," said Baker. The Warrior coach continued, "Jeb had a very good year. I was very happy to see him get the recognition he rightfully deserves."

Baker pointed out that area soccer fans may not have heard the last of the 6-2, 85-pound Blasingame. "He has a lot of potential as a college keeper," Baker said.

Begins This Weekend SIUE to host third annual collegiate tennis tournament

EDWARDSVILLE — Eight of the best teams from the Midwest Region will be on hand Nov. 9-10 as Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville plays host to the third annual 7-Up Intercollegiate Men's Tennis Tournament.

The tournament, which includes the top four teams from the recently completed Illinois Intercollegiate Championships, is scheduled to get underway Friday, Nov. 9, at the Oak Hill Racquet Club in Belleville.

Top-seeded Illinois State University, which upset Northwestern University by just three points for the Illinois Intercollegiate championship, is expected to stage a repeat battle with Northwestern and Southern Illinois University at Carbondale for the 7-Up crown.

The University of Illinois, which finished fourth in the Illinois Championships, is also expected to join the University of Kansas, Murray State University, Indiana University and Vanderbilt University for what looks like a wide-open race for the gold medal.

Individually, the tournament will feature several outstanding collegiate players, including the newly crowned state champion from Illinois State, Bray Wray. Wray earned the title by upsetting the number one seed, Dennis Rasmussen of North Carolina, in the championship match of the Illinois Intercollegiate.

Also listed as a pre-tournament favorite is Mike Wolf, the sophomore from Kansas who recently was selected as one of two representatives from the Midwest Region to compete in the Indoor All-American Championships at U.C.L.A. Last year, Wolf completed the season ranked 57th in the NCAA.

SIUE tennis fans will also have an opportunity to see the first stages in the rebuilding of the tennis program as St. Louisians Dino Lombardo and Bill Zander, the first two recruits signed for the 1985-86 season, are expected to compete in an open exhibition division.

The tournament will feature six singles flights and three doubles flights, as well as the exhibition division.

In Colorado SIUE ends season

EDWARDSVILLE — The soccer Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will close the curtain on the 1984 season Saturday as they travel to Colorado Springs, Colo. to take on the Falcons of the U.S. Air Force Academy in a scheduled 11 a.m. contest.

The Cougars, who made their homecoming game a success last Saturday by defeating Northeast Louisiana University, 3-1, will enter the Air Force game with an 8-3 record. While trying to keep their record over the .500 mark Saturday, the Cougars will also be trying to ex-

Championships Saturday State-bound Warrior girls ready for rigors, competition

By CHARLIE SKAER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Everybody has heard about the mad dash to the finish line.

At Saturday's cross-country finals in Peoria, the key to success may be a mad dash at the starting line.

Members of the Granite City girls' team hope to improve on last year's state performance, where they finished 23rd out of 25 teams. The girls say they must do better right from the start.

"During the first 200 yards, we're going to have to sprint out harder than ever before," said senior Michelle Shoemaker, one of more than 200 competitors at last year's meet. "If we don't, we won't get in among the first 100 runners. You're stuck behind in the pack."

SHOEMAKER, who last year was second for Granite City with a 12:32 place finish in 12:50, knows that runners can get boxed in during a sharp curve about 600 yards from the starting point. Saturday will be her third cross country championship and she knows that being ahead of the crowd before the turn means a gain of valuable seconds.

The game plan of sprinting hard at the start does have one obstacle. Everybody else will be doing the same thing, as coach Dave McClain knows.

"They have to sprint to get some room to maneuver," says McClain. "I suppose all the other teams will be after the same thing. But I think our girls are competitive enough to get out in front."

THE LONGER girl who did that exceptionally well last year for Granite City was Lora Wiser, who finished 16th overall with a time of 11:26.

She knows that when the gun goes off, she's in there 100 percent," said McClain. "If she finishes anywhere less than 16 this year, that's great. But she may have some tougher competition than last year. She may improve on her time, but not on her overall place."

"I feel pretty good," Wiser explained Wednesday. "The last two weeks I've really been working hard — running the miles and working on sprints for speed. This will be my third state meet, but it doesn't get any easier. I think they get more exciting each year."

THE WARRIOR junior said she feels she's in top form. "I'm in much better shape now than I was just four weeks ago," Wiser said. "I'm working harder all around, even during the hard practice days. I'm working to get the most out of each practice."

Admittedly, Wiser said, there is a lot of pressure on her to do well in the state meet, not by her coach or teammates, but by herself.

"I finished 46th as a freshman and then 16th last year. I'm hoping to do better than that, and I'd like to be in the top 10, but I can't do that if I don't just like to finish better than I did last year."

SHOULD she fare better in her third state meet than she has in her first two, Wiser says she'll give the credit to her coach and members of the team.

"A lot of the time the (news) paper says Lora Wiser does this and Lora Wiser does that. The coverage is great, but sometimes I feel like they don't say enough about the other girls. They're behind me 100 percent, always. They're really a great bunch. We're like a running family. It means so much for all of us to do this together," Wiser said of the team qualifying for state.

REDAUSE of the vast numbers of runners, McClain says it's equally as difficult to set a specific goal for the team.

"It's hard to estimate the northern Illinois area," McClain said. "I'm shooting for 15th place. But whether or not we'll get there, we'll just have to wait and see."

The seven Granite City runners, along with team members Laney Castillo and Dawn Young, will be leaving Friday morning for Peoria.

Grote, Cook named All-Sectional Also Blasingame, Houston named All-Staters

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

ST. CHARLES, Ill. — Granite City High School's soccer team may have been conspicuously missing from last weekend's 13th Annual State Soccer Tournament here, but just the same the Warriors made their presence felt as two of its team members were named to the Illinois All-State Soccer Team.

Those athletes, Mike Houston, a Warrior midfielder, and Jeb Blasingame, the Warrior goalkeeper, were among five southwestern conference kickers named to the prestigious team. Other athletes from the SWC named to the team include Alton's Pat Hoke, Collinsville's Tony Ellis and Belleville East's C. J. Easton. The team included 40 athletes statewide.

Larry Montgomery, Alton's coach, was named the IHSA Soccer Coach of the Year.

IN ADDITION to their selection to the All-State team, Houston and Blasingame, along with the other three downstate athletes, they were also named to the All Granite City High School Sectional Team.

But Houston and Blasingame were not the only Warrior kickers whose talents were noticed in the sectional. Granite City's Scott Grote and Brent Cook were also named to the All-Sectional Team.

Grote, who was the Warriors' leading scorer this season and played his best soccer of the year in post-season play, picked up the Warriors' only goal in their 1-0 victory over Collinsville in the sectional semi-final.

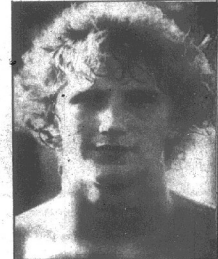

AS FOR Cook, it's not hard to figure how he was selected to the team either. The senior Warrior, whose sideline throw-ins are the best in not only the Metro-East area but probably the entire St. Louis area, was indirectly responsible for Grote's goal against the Cahoks. It was one of Cook's patented sideline throw-ins which set up Grote's game-winning goal.

The Warriors' bonanza of post-season honors is nearly as common in the autumn as the falling leaves, but as common as it is Warrior coach Gene Baker never has a common word or phrase for his athletes.

"JEB'S BEEN with us for the years," Baker said of Blasingame. "He's a three-year starter for us and as far as I'm concerned his future in soccer and as a young man in unimpaired. He's always played well when we needed him."

Baker when on to say that Blasingame was more than just a senior on the team, he and team captain, Houston, were team leaders.

As for Houston, Baker called him, "an athlete Lee Iacocca (president of Chrysler Corporation) would be proud of. His work rate is always 110 percent," Baker said.

Houston...
...All-Stater

Blasingame...
...All-Stater

BAKER said Houston played admirably throughout the season, although he said, he was playing out of position. Normally a back, Houston played the midfield for most of the season.

As for his All-Sectional selections, Baker began with Grote.

"Scottie just missed being named to the All-State team. A three-year starter, he showed us his true character when we needed him. When no one else was able to put the ball in the net Scottie did."

Grote, as mentioned, was the Warriors' leading scorer this season with eight and two assists.

COOKIE, as Cook is referred by Baker and his teammates, has given the sideline throw-in a new definition as an offensive weapon. And, that's where Baker began with his praise for the Warrior back.

"Cookie's a fine player, a two-year starter with us," Baker said. "His specialty, is no secret, the throw-in."

Passage Of Bond Issue

Partney: Sports, extracurricular safe for now

Although Granite City's School District Nine, never came out en masse and said it planned to cancel extracurricular activities if the bond issue and the referendum didn't pass Tuesday, members of the board did discuss that possibility with the media before the election.

Well, athletes, band members, cheerleaders, extracurricular people and those people who voted for the proposals, you can rest easy. You can go practicing your sports, plays and music. There will be winter activities. With the passing of the bond issue and the narrow defeat of the referendum, extracurricular activities are safe from the district's cost-cutting knife. At least for now. That's what School Board president Dave Partney said Wednesday.

"I support all extracurricular activities. We were never in favor of cutting anything, including sports. We talked possibilities - what we might have to do if the bond issue and referendum didn't pass. But really

Sports on the Run

By Alan L. Gertszencker

Although she played volleyball as a freshman, Witt decided to switch to cross country this year. She has worked her way up to consistently finish in the No. 2 spot for the squad.

"All my friends went out for volleyball my freshman year," said Witt. "But I like running. You're relying on yourself more as an individual."

Another new face to the squad is freshman Lori Pepe, who came to Granite City last year after being raised in Virginia. Pepe says this is not only her first state championship, but her first time for being on a cross country team.

"I had been to Catholic schools where there had been no sports, just P.E.," said Pepe. "I've improved a lot, thanks to the other girls."

"Lora (Wiser) is the main influence of the team. She's sort of an inspiration because she is our main runner."

LIKE THE other runners, junior Paye Patton hopes 31-degree weather doesn't strike Peoria as it did during last year's championship. "Some people it doesn't bother, but it bothers me," admits Patton, who last year finished 156th with a 14:00 time. "I'd prefer it to be in the 50s."

Regardless of the weather, fans are expected to see some tough competition from the hundreds of runners as well as entertainment put on by the fans themselves.

"The people from (Elmhurst) York will be there with their bands and tuxedos," said McClain. "I'm just an ol' southern boy. I'm looking forward to the show."

nothing specifically," Partney said.

"As president, I feel like the voters gave the district a second line with no $6.6 million (bond issue). And the referendum was close enough that we feel like there's enough positive feeling out there that someday that may pass, too."

The people of the district should be committed for their support of the schools. We don't feel like we can cut programs when 12,000 people go to the polls and vote yes.

"There's a lot of support out there for schools. More than we thought. We're (bond members and district administrators) tickled to death," Partney said.

The school board president attributed the large voter turnout to the fact that the bond issues and referendum would not pass and, consequently, extracurricular activities would suffer.

"I definitely think that may have been a reason for the large turnout... wait, make that I think it was the definite FACT for the large voter turnout," Partney said. "Yes, I think you could say that people were afraid of the repercussions that a 'No' vote would have on the schools and this community."

Although Partney said the passage of the bond issue was not the sole solution to the district's money woes, he did say that it was definitely a step in the right direction.

"I think if we're prudent and avoid taking on any additional expenditures this district can survive, although we may still have to come back in April and ask people to pass the referendum."

"School should be a learning experience, but also it should be fun, and I think extracurricular activities help make it so. Kids need to grow more than just academically."

Indeed they do, Dave. Indeed they do.

Cross Country

Some of the girls say they'll be fighting off the flitters before Saturday's 11:15 a.m. finals.

"I'm always nervous before a race," admits sophomore Sheila Noel, who last year finished 156th with a 13:18 time. "But once the gun sounds, I'm in another world. I'm OK."

GETTING to the state finals has been a main goal for the team throughout the season, according to freshman Marianne Finn.

"That's been our priority - to win as many meets so we could make it to state," says Finn, who will be competing in her first state meet. "We talked about it all the time."

One key newcomer to the team has been sophomore Melody Witt.

All Staters

In my opinion, he's best in the entire St. Louis area at it. He's done a wonderful job for us this season, and his stamina is something for everyone to shoot at."

As Baker concluded his praise for his athletes receiving post-season honors, he mentioned one more athlete. One who didn't receive an honor, but who he said was an integral part of the Warriors' success story this season - Greg Goble.

"Greg did everything for us this year. He's definitely a college player with an intense desire to succeed."

Schmidt overcame odds

By Marty Mishow
for the Press-Record

The SEMO State football team experienced a change of major proportions before this season when virtually an entire new coaching staff was brought in. But, since midway through 1981, one thing has remained as sure as death and taxes: Al Schmidt will be the Tribe's starting center.

When the Indians took the field last Saturday for their homecoming game against Central Missouri State, Schmidt made his 37th straight start over the ball. Remarkable in itself, but what makes that feat all the more amazing is the fact just about no college - including SEMO State - wanted the senior after his playing days at Granite City North High were over.

At the time, Schmidt was a 185-pound guard/linebacker with a particularly good speed and no strength. In short, not the type of specimen recruiters normally drool over.

"I had a few Division II schools talk to me, but that about it," said Schmidt before a SEMO State practice Monday. "I didn't get any scholarship offers."

Schmidt, who now weighs in at roughly 220 pounds, set up a 1981 meeting with Indian coaches, none of whom are currently on the staff. They weren't very quick to welcome him out - "They really didn't want me. They were or less said I could come out when school started, but not for two-a-days" - but Schmidt decided to give it a shot anyway.

"I had already decided to go to school here, and I just wanted to play ball," he said. "As it turned out, I ended up getting to come out for two-a-days."

Schmidt did not set SEMO State practices on fire quickly. He started out in his initial season as a little-used guard. Then, an injury forced the regular center to be moved. And the backup center left school. Schmidt was moved to center and the rest, as they say, is history. He became a starter by his fifth game and has not been out of the lineup since.

And, despite, by his own admission, still possessing no great size, strength or quickness, Schmidt has not just been a ho-hum performer. As a sophomore he made second-team all-conference in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association and last year he was an MIAA honorable-mention choice.

"He's not that strong or fast," said offensive line coach Phil Meyer. "But he has that determination. He hustles every play. He just works his butt off. And he's great to coach. He does whatever you ask him to do."

Asked to single out his primary attribute, Schmidt hedged, then said, "I don't really know. I'm not that big or fast. But every year new guys come in and that kind of worries you. You have to always be on your toes."

Brewer: ISU's problem solver

NORMAL - When most teams get into a jam, players look to the stars and the coach for help. But when the Illinois State University soccer squad gets in trouble, they turn to midfielder Fritz Brewer of Granite City.

Brewer, one of the Redbirds' leading point-producers last season, has earned the title of problem solver on ISU's 1984 roster.

Coach Tim Carter feels his sophomore controls the tempo of the competition because of his abilities to analyze the field and select the proper pass.

"Fritz either puts the pressure on the opposition or he takes it off of us," said Carter. "When things start to get hectic on the field, we turn to Fritz to calm them down."

Although his light body frame may make an appealing target for his more physical adversaries, the ISU coach says Brewer holds his own in tough competition.

"For a player his size, Fritz really does a great job on man-to-man coverages and controlling the ball," said the Redbird mentor. "He beats his opponents with his passing and sustains our attack."

Brewer and his teammates defended their unbeaten home record last Tuesday against Knox College with a 7-1 win and again Wednesday when they hosted the Huskies of Northern Illinois in Hancock Stadium at 6:30 p.m. The Redbirds beat 16th-rated Northern 2-1.

Cougar Soccer

tend their streak to six consecutive wins over the Falcons.

The Falcons have never defeated the Cougars, but did play them an exciting 3-2 game last year in Edwardsville.

Last Saturday, the Cougars celebrated their final home game of the year by collecting three goals in the final period to pull off a 3-1 victory. Bill Stallings, the senior forward from St. Louis' Rotary High School, etched his name deeper into the SIUE record books by collecting his 13th and 14th goals of the season, giving him 38 goals and 12 assists in this four-year career, fifth-best in University history.

Dan Malloy, the Cougars' four-year starter on the forward line, also collected an assist against Northeast Louisiana, giving him 24 goals and 20 assists and pushing him into eighth-place on the all-time SIUE scoring list.

The Cougars' third goal of the game was also scored by a member of the SIUE all-time scorers list, Bruce Bellinger Bellinger, a senior from New Jersey, currently has 16 goals and 16 assists to rank as the 14th leading scorer in the 18-year history of the SIUE soccer program.

GRANITE CITY CENTER
ATHLETE of the WEEK

LETICIA MILLER

Leticia Miller was named the Granite City Center Athlete of the Week for October 29-November 4. Leticia's offensive spiking and blocking led the Stars to victory in the first game of their match with Kaskaskia. Miller's offensive skills were in evidence again in the Sectional Play-Offs against Belleville. Although the Stars went down to defeat, Leticia's strong play earned her a nomination for the All-Regional Women's Volleyball Team, the honor eluding her by one vote.

This is the second time Miller has been honored as the Athlete of the Week. As a Freshman, Leticia can look forward to an even stronger year in 1985 as the Stars' volleyball program continues to grow.

Big Red Loses

SCRAMBLING STUMPER. St. Louis Football Cardinals running back Stump Mitchell scrambles for a good gain during last Sunday's National Football League game with the Los Angeles Rams. Although Mitchell was able to elude Ram safety Ivory Sully on the play, the Cardinals were unable to do the same to the Rams and lost 16-13. This Sunday the Cardinals host old nemesis, Dallas. The game, which will be televised locally, begins at 3 p.m.

Outdoor Corner
For Archery, FirearmsIllinois DOC forecasts another excellent deer hunters' season

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois deer hunters, who've come to expect good whitetail hunting each fall should not be disappointed in 1984, according to Forrest Loomis, head of the Conservation Department's forest game program.

"We expect a season at least as good as last year's, and maybe better," Loomis said. "Most of the Midwestern states are looking forward to a season that will be good to excellent, so why not us?"

Last year, Illinois' 83,000 firearm deer hunters bagged more than 26,000 deer for a hunter success rate of 31 percent. The state's 36,220 bow hunters took an estimated 3,000 deer for an 11 percent success rate.

The two weekends of firearm deer hunting are slated for Nov. 16-18 and Dec. 7-9 in all counties except Lake, Cook, Kane and DuPage counties, where firearm hunting is prohibited. Archery deer hunting began Oct. 1 and continues through Dec. 31, except that archery hunting is suspended during the two weekends of firearm hunting in all counties having a firearm season.

With good weather, Loomis said, hunters can anticipate harvest totals and hunter success rates similar to those recorded in 1983.

"The weather is a critical factor from now until opening day," he explained. "If the weather cooperates, farmers should be able to harvest crops prior to the first weekend of hunting in November. That not only means standing crops will be unavailable to deer to hide in, but also that many landowners who have landowner permits will have additional time in which to hunt deer. Both factors stand to boost the total whitetail harvest for 1984."

Loomis said good production of acorns, a favorite food of deer, also is an advantage hunters can expect to enjoy this fall.

The fact that crop harvesting already is underway in many areas is especially important, Loomis said, since 95 percent of the state's hunters hunt on privately-owned farmland. "Hunters should contact landowners for permission to hunt private property well in advance of the season," Loomis reminded. "In fact, hunters should have permission to hunt before applying for a permit."

Weather continues to be important when the hunting seasons roll around, according to Loomis. An ideal opening weekend will be cool and crisp, with little or no wind. Deer are not inclined to move about in unseasonably warm weather and therefore less likely to venture into a hunter's gunshots, and still air would make it more difficult for deer to smell a hunter in their midst.

Extremely wet conditions could be a hindrance, although a rain a few days before opening day would make tracking easier and help cut down on the noise caused by hunters walking through dry leaves.

"A light frost or, ideally, a skiff of snow would be ideal," Loomis added. "A tracking snow is not likely in November, but it's a possibility in December."

Paralleling last year's season results, the best hunting this fall should occur in central and west-central Illinois particularly in counties along the Illinois and Mississippi Rivers.

"If you map Illinois' deer harvest totals, you end up with a map that basically follows the state's main waterways," Loomis said.

Counties located between the Illinois and Mississippi rivers are especially good for deer hunters because the herd there is still expanding and because there is good habitat and rich soil to ensure the herd is well fed. Among the top deer producing counties last year were Hancock, McDonough, Tazewell, Adams, Schuyler, Brown and Pike — all of which are located in central-west central Illinois.

Hunters with a permit for one of these counties can expect excellent hunting, with a one-in-three chance of bagging a deer.

A highlight film from the 1984 All-Star game will be shown. Also highlighting the banquet will be guest speaker Ricky Horton, pitcher of the St. Louis Baseball Cardinals.

Also slated to attend will be former Cardinal guard Dal Maxmire, who is now coaching with the Atlanta Braves.

For more information, persons should contact John Lakin, recreation supervisor, at the park office, 877-3059.

$3,150 loss in fires at 2 GC apartments

A fire caused by cigarette ashes that had been dumped from an ashtray into a wastebasket resulted in $3,000 damage at 11:05 p.m. Monday.

Location was the apartment of Regina Dyer at 2149th Edison Ave. Owner of the building is Glenn Falter, 2151 Edison.

The blaze was confined to a bathroom in the upstairs apartment. There was $2,500 loss to the building and $500 smoke damage to the apartment's contents.

A fire at 9:05 p.m. Monday in the apartment of Thomas Joseph, 4803 Kirkpatrick Homes, was responsible for $150 damage.

As a lantern was being filled, fuel leaked out and ignited, burning a throw rug. Granite City firefighters learned.

Workshop studies school financing

The League of Women Voters of the Edwardsville Area will host a school finance workshop, open without charge to all interested persons Saturday, Nov. 10, from 9 a.m. to noon in the Madison Mutual building on Route 157 near the east entrance of Southern Illinois University.

The workshop will focus on school finance reform at the state level. It will be conducted by Betty Bucknell, school finance chairman for Illinois League of Women Voters. As a former school teacher, school board member, and as a person who works with income tax preparation for individual taxpayers, she is uniquely qualified to give a balanced view, a spokesman said.

The discussion will cover how state resources are distributed, how state income is generated, current legislative issues and league positions on these issues.

Coffee will be served from 9 to 9:30 and the speaker will be available to answer individual questions from 11:30 to noon.

MAN TAKES HIS DAUGHTER

Ronnie Martin, 31, of 25 Victoria Drive, Pontoon Beach, was arrested late last week at Fourth Street and Grand Avenue, and charged with criminal trespass to property and aggravated assault after a family dispute, at which time he took his 4-year-old daughter, Christine Martin, without the consent of his ex-wife.

According to the police report, Martin arrived at Cardin's Carpets, 1900 State St., and allegedly grabbed his former wife, Mary Martin, threw her against a wall and took his 4-year-old girl then allegedly threatened to "shoot the whole bunch." There were five people present at the time of the incident.

Martin said he took the child because "he didn't want them to go to her father's (Cardin's) farm."

After a police officer talked with Martin, Martin agreed to return the little girl.

Martin was later arrested on a state complaint signed by Robert Cardin, owner of the business and father of Mrs. Martin. Martin was released at 4:20 p.m. Friday on $204 cash bail.

State balance, revenue up with realigned sales taxes

Comptroller Roland W. Burris reports that the balance in the state's general funds at the end of October was $179 billion, which was $26 million higher than the balance of one year ago and the highest Oct. 31 balance in four years. The month-end balance has now remained above the $200 million fiscal "warning zone" level for 11 consecutive months.

Revenues in the four months of fiscal 1985 were $3.343 billion, up $429 million or 14.7 percent over total revenues for the first four months of fiscal 1984. Revenues from state sources were $2.862 billion, $335 million or 13.3 percent higher than the previous year.

The major portion of this growth in revenues was from a $278 million increase in sales tax revenues, due primarily to the increase in the tax rate from four percent to five percent, along with removal of the final two percent tax on food and drugs.

Also noted was $72 million increase in transfers from the Lottery Fund. Revenues from federal sources totaled $481 million, $94 million or 24.3 percent above comparable revenues for the same period one year ago.

General expenditures in July through October were $3.181 billion, $280 million or 9.7 percent higher than in the same four months a year ago. In comparison, four-month expenditures were up $104 million or 3.7 percent in fiscal 1984, up $168 million or 6.4 percent in fiscal 1983, and up only $20 million or 0.8 percent in fiscal 1982.

"I can remember 10 to 15 years ago at potluck dinner when the Auxiliary Kitchen Band would play and pleasant memories included Margie Hall who was a firm believer in this organization," the mayor added.

Mark 11:23... "He shall have whatsoever he saith."

Jesus surely wanted to teach us about the power of believing prayer. He said, "Whoever shall say and not doubt, he shall have WHAT SO EVER he saith."

Whosoever means you! You can pray and get results. Jesus said could. And the more critical your situation, the more amazing the answers to your prayers.

Whosoever means exactly, that God can do anything. He can solve your problems. He can heal your body. He can forgive your sins. On and on it goes. Whatsoever need you have.

Why not try prayer today? Find yourself a quiet place. Bow your head and pray out loud. Talk to God just as you would a friend.

The group then voted to make a liberal contribution to the Save the Lady fund, a renovation project for the Statue of Liberty, in the names of legacy members Lori Forrest and Jamie Alexander.

Norma Rain then presented the program on current event, which included a discussion of the presidential debate and problems facing the next administration.

The social committee announced plans for the chapter members and husbands to attend an autumn fest in Hermann, Mo., and to visit other points of interest in the area.

Mrs. Forrest and the social committee served a dessert course to those named and to Dolores Byrnes, Juanita Calve, Martha Jean Dyer, Ariene Haldeman, Lora Mae Lombardi, Jane Stevens, Evelyn Tolliver and Pat Tsigalaroff.

From tears to kisses

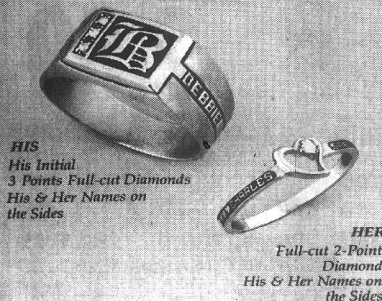

Mythology teaches that when a mistletoe dart was used to slay the Norse god Balder, his mother's tears became mistletoe's white berries, and she decreed that mistletoe would never again do harm. Because Balder's life was restored, his mother is said to have bestowed a kiss on anyone who passes under mistletoe.

Speech award to Richard King

"To recognize outstanding and meritorious service to the organization and to the field of speech and theatre education," reads the W. P. Sanford Award presented to Richard King by the Illinois Speech and Theatre Association last Friday at the Hilton Hotel in Springfield, Ill. Dr. Richard Hunsaker, head of the speech department and debate coach at Belleville West High School and a longtime friend and associate of King, made the presentation and recounted the highlights of King's career as professional actor and teacher.

More than 200 ISTA members attended the convention, which included a variety of sessions in the field of speech. Among them were Mr. Ron Fennell and Mrs. Beverly Scroggins from the Granite City High School.

King was head of the speech department for 15 of the 19 years he taught at the Granite City High Schools. He retired in June 1983 and is now spending his time traveling and working on a biography of Jane Cowl, the late actress-manager and playwright who was a close friend.

OVER THIRTY YEARS OF COMBATING PAIN

In his thirty-three years of practice in the Tri-City area, Dr. Walter Heidke has dealt with pain in all of its manifestations. People free of pain do not realize the terrible toll that is extracted in physiological and psychological disability to its victims. The foremost obligation of any healing profession is to assist the patient to be comfortable and resume a normal life. Many people, according to Dr. Heidke, come to Chiropractors after they have exhausted all other areas of medical expertise. Many are desperate for relief. Fortunately, Chiropractic is that most suited for pain reduction.

While other methods may prescribe drugs and alleviate, they at most afford only temporary relief. Chiropractors aim at relief without impairments and the frustrations of drug therapy. I have been providing health care in the community for over 30 decades and I am sure that this has built-up a sense of trust and confidence with my patients that is extremely supportive.

Dr. Heidke's practice is also unique in that he is a recognized expert in the field of forensic medicine. Dr. Heidke states that this situation just seemed to evolve when many of his patients had claims for injuries that required court assistance to verify. These situations were never ducked because Dr. Heidke felt he owed it to his patients to help them solve their problems and be justly compensated for their injuries. Dr. Heidke's endeavors are not confined to private practice, he is president of Advanced Educational Concept Incorporated, a video tape education, production company. His expertise in the personal injury field is utilized by Logan Chiropractic College in putting on seminars for the college post doctoral courses. At this time his company, in conjunction with Logan College, is putting on seminars to teach doctors in the field how to handle personal injury situations. The course just given in St. Louis dealt with many medical-legal situations and demonstrated many diagnostic adjuncts such as the new Electronic Thermography equipment and electromyography equipment for nerve conduction studies.

In mid-August of this year, Dr. Heidke will take into his office a recent graduate of Logan Chiropractic. He is Dr. Charles King, Jr., a native of Granite City, Illinois. At that time, Dr. Heidke's office will be open six days a week in order to better serve the community.

It has always been Dr. Heidke's policy to offer quality service with a fee structure that people can live with. It's bad enough to be in pain, but to not be able to afford to get well is a sign of the times, and a terrible situation.

Dr. Heidke's office is located at 3701 Nameoki Road in Granite City. His phone number is 452-3444.

Fellow patrolman's son charged in shooting at Cahokia Mounds

The 22-year-old son of a Fairmont City police officer and his 19-year-old wife were arrested at their home during the weekend in connection with the slaying of another Fairmont police officer at Cahokia Mounds State Park.

The suspects, David and Sharon Pruitt, both of Collinsville Road, were arrested by Division of Criminal Investigation agents. Pruitt, the son of the only other full-time patrolman on the Fairmont City force, was charged with murder by the Madison County state's attorney's office.

Mrs. Pruitt was charged with obstructing justice for allegedly lying to police who were investigating the shooting.

Fairmont City police found the body of Bryan Keeney, 32, near his patrol car in the northern portion of Cahokia Mounds State Park at 6:52 a.m. Sunday. He had been shot in the forehead.

It is not clear whether Keeney was killed in the line of duty or why had been in the park, which is out of the village police force's jurisdiction.

Officers searched for Patrolman Keeney when he failed to return to the police station at the end of his shift at 4 a.m.

Illinois State Police Division of Criminal Investigation Agent Randy Rushing said it was determined that Pruitt and Keeney knew each other on a social basis and had disputes in the past. Mrs. Pruitt and Keeney also were acquainted, since both of them were soccer coaches for the same league.

Investigators did not explain the reason they suspect Pruitt.

Agents are checking on a possible alibi for Pruitt, who was working as security guard in the East St. Louis Bi-State bus garage Sunday night. His timecard was allegedly punched every hour on the hour from 5 p.m. Saturday to 6 a.m. Sunday, less than an hour before Keeney's body was found.

Officials also are investigating other possible leads in the case.

Pruitt is currently being held on $500,000 bond in the Madison County Jail, with a probable appearance in court on Friday. Mrs. Pruitt is being held on $100,000 bond.

Chancellor gives himself 'A' for accomplishments

After his first five years at the helm of Southern Illinois University, Chancellor Kenneth A. Shaw said he believes he's met the demands of the job he was hired to do.

He points to a solidly-established base for governmental and public relations, leadership that has brought about stronger administration, and a system structure that allows SIU to speak with one voice while acknowledging the autonomy of its component universities—SIU at Carbondale and SIU at Edwardsville.

THOSE ARE some of the accomplishments Shaw lists in a two-part report card he has prepared on himself and the system for review by SIU's Board of Trustees. Shaw is undergoing his first five-year performance evaluation since taking over as SIU's top system executive in September 1979. Such evaluations are called for in board policies.

Two documents make up the report: "A Look to the Future," outlining Shaw's goals and hopes for the upcoming five years, and the 95-page summary of his and the system's achievements since the redesign of SIU's governance system five years ago.

Shaw said he believes he has met expectations the trustees had of him when he took over the system job in 1979. Those included serving as the link between the trustees at the policy-making level and the university presidents at the operations level; speaking as a single voice for SIUE and establishing effective leadership and decision-making. Accomplishments cited in the fifth-annual report include:

- UNIFYING the university system. Shaw reports that SIU now "speaks externally with one voice," an accomplishment achieved with a blend of strong presidents, SIUE staff competence, campus cooperation and development of clear system guidelines.
- DEVELOPING clean, concise board of trustees legislation. Shaw characterized the SIUE trustees as "a lay board" I would compare favorably with any in the nation."
- BUILDING external relations. Policies on federal relations have been clarified. Shaw also said he made a "strong beginning" on putting forth a positive identity for SIU. "We no longer hear complaints about mixed messages from SIUE, and this is a tribute to those involved with our governmental relations efforts and to the presidents," Shaw said.

STRENGTHENING academic policies, resulting in better relations with the Illinois Board of Higher Education, and encouragement of studies that led to clearer academic priorities at the separate universities.

PURSUING stronger financial management. Shaw credits his system staff and organizational adjustments for significant cost savings and a more aggressive approach to financial management at SIU.

ADDRESSING general administration needs. Shaw cites a preliminary strategy for collective bargaining and exhaustive long- and short-run planning for dealing with computing needs of the two universities.

Shaw flanked his report of accomplishments with a list of "regrets and frustrations" that marked the five-year period. Among them:

—Not being able to persuade the governor and state legislature to continue the 1983 income tax hike to provide much-needed funding for education;

—The inability to bring SIU salaries up to adequate levels;

—The "seemingly endless" negative publicity and delays connected with SIU-Carbondale's plans for a library storage building;

—Failure to find an answer to the need for more housing at SIU-Edwardsville;

—Continuing problems caused by reductions in state spending for buildings and building maintenance;

—Restrictive legislation that hampers management and financial efficiency.

Summing up, Shaw praised efforts by SIU's trustees, presidents and his staff as "essential keys to success" and said the review exercise itself "confirms any sense that the period has been an extremely productive one."

The Southern Illinois University Concert Chorale, under the direction of Professor Leonard Van Camp, will present a concert at the First Baptist Church in Belleville, on Sunday, Nov. 11, at 7 p.m.

One of the highlights of the event will be the joint performance of "The First Song of Isaiah" with the children's choir of the church, the Kids of the Kingdom. They will sing the arrangement by Jack Noble White.

THERE WILL also be a performance of Gregg Smith's arrangement of three of Aesop's Fables: "The Raven and the Fox," "The Lady with Sore Eyes," and "The Boy and His False Friends." Soloists will include Gerald Hechenberger, Rhonda Collins, Tom Wheeler, Kathleen Carbery, Mark Buske and Jeff Gutesberger. Dan Vizer will be the accompanist.

The concert will open with three Latin motets: Palestrina's "Cantate Tubs," Maurice Durufle's "Ubi Caritas," and Luca Marenzio's "Hodie, Christus Natus Est." They will be followed by three traditional songs of Israel: "Ki Mi Tiyo," arranged by Loung and Poch; "Dun-dal," arranged by Sonya Garfinkle; and "Hara," arranged by Julius Chajes.

The chorale will then sing three settings of "Ave Maria": by Nicholas Gombert (1490-1556), Wolfgang Mozart (1756-1791), and Franz Liszt (1811-1886).

THE PROGRAM will conclude with a set of three spirituals and folk songs: "Go Down, Moses," with Dennis Molitor as soloist; "Little David, Play on Your Harp," with solo by Tom Wheeler; and "Amen," featuring Howard Bell as soloist.

At the conclusion of its fall series of concerts, many members of the Concert Chorale are planning to join a tour of Europe and the Holy Land scheduled for next summer.

Steelworkers Local 67; Paul Costello, finance department of GCS; Luther "Bud" Shaffer, Steelworkers Local 4063, and Carl Bazzenas, chairman of the board of governors of the Torch Club. The donation to the local United Way represents more than 28 percent of the campaign's $630,000 goal.

Torch Club boosts UW contribution 10 percent

The Labor-Management Torch Club of Granite City Steel has made the largest single pledge to this year's Tri-Cities Area United Way campaign.

At the report meeting late last week, the employees' group pledged, $180,400, an increase of 10 percent over last year's pledge.

The increase was made possible by a plant-wide solicitation for the Torch Club, spearheaded by the endorsement and personal contacts with employees by the United Steelworkers of America, as well as other union locals at Granite City Steel.

Salaried employees also made a successful solicitation, during which many new members joined the continuous-giving activity while previous members increased their contributions.

Torch Club President Carl Bazzenas said the drive will mean a 10 percent increase in funds received from employees through payroll deductions. "Our board of governors thanks all employees who have responded to the appeal of those less fortunate in our community," he said.

The Torch Club is supported by payroll deductions of employees ranging from 30 minutes a month to 120 minutes a month. In addition to the United Way, the club contributes to a wide range of welfare, health and charity activities conducted by 22 other agencies.

Burl Hand, president of United Steelworkers Local 30 and chairman of the Steelworkers Joint Committee, said his union did its best to endorse the Labor-Management Torch Club activity. Working with the United Way, his group backed the employee re-solicitation.

Hand, who also is a member of the Torch Club board of governors, said he was especially pleased that the board added a pledge to Project Help, a commodities distribution program for the unemployed. "Our union and others, along with various companies in this area, helped to start Project Help because people were going hungry in this community. Many were and still are out of jobs. I'm proud that our Torch Club has endorsed the work of Project Help by making a pledge for next year."

The Torch Club pledged $7,000 for Project Help in 1985. That amount, plus the $18,400 increase for the United Way, was made possible by the recent Torch Club solicitation.

COSTUME PARTY. Youngsters named winners in the Halloween party hosted at the VFW Post 1245 of Pontoon Beach. Each one received a special award and all the 38 young guests were entertained at a party with refreshments and treats provided by the auxiliary members.

SEMC offers Physician Referral Service

St. Elizabeth Medical Center is now offering a Physician Referral Service. This new service makes it possible for local residents to call the medical center, explain their medical needs and be referred to an appropriate family practitioner, surgeon or specialist from the medical center staff. There is no charge for this service.

It is hoped that the Physician Referral Service will benefit the community by taking the guesswork out of choosing a physician, says Dr. A. M. Datuin, chief of staff. "Choosing a doctor is an important decision, and people need information in order to make that decision," Dr. Datuin says.

The medical center is the logical source for that kind of information. "We know our physicians," Dr. Datuin said. "We know their skills and educational background."

"We also feel that this is a good way to acquaint people in the community with our staff physicians," Dr. Datuin adds. The medical center has added a number of new doctors to its staff in recent years.

"We want people to know they don't have to go all the way to St. Louis to receive treatment. We have well qualified physicians in a wide range of specialties right here. We also have the staff, facilities and technology to back them up."

Physician specialties in St. Elizabeth's include: cardiology; pulmonary medicine; cancer treatment; ear, nose and throat; allergy; pediatrics; obstetrics and gynecology; oral surgery; plastic and reconstructive surgery; internal medicine; psychiatry; ophthalmology; general surgery; family practice; urology; orthopedics and others.

To use the Physician Referral Service, interested persons may call 798-3013, Mondays through Fridays, from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Venice holds hearing on tax levy

By RACHEL NEWSOME
for the Press-Record

Prior to the Venice School Board's regularly scheduled meeting, a public hearing on the 1984 tax levy was conducted Monday night.

Superintendent of Schools Robert Vickers explained to the board, "There were no changes made from the tentatively-adopted tax levy."

The formal adoption of the 1984 tax levy occurred following the public hearing. With a tax rate raise of $3, the tax levy totals $567,500.

A request from Vickers pertaining to the purchasing of an IBM PCXT computer and printing system for the school board offices was approved. Vickers added that the payroll would be the first information entered into the computer system.

A snow removal agreement of $50 with AAA Maintenance and Janitorial Service in Granite City, authorization to Michael Billrey, attorney, to prepare a request for anticipatory warrants, and an All-Star Wrestling proposal from Venice Lions Club also were approved.

The Lions Club's requests concern the use of the Venice High School auditorium for All-Star Wrestling out of Kansas City. The event is scheduled for Jan. 18. In the agreement, the Lions Club states their intentions to render half of their 30 percent share of the profit with the school district.

The board also rescheduled their next two meeting dates for Nov. 26 and Dec. 17.

Travelers Abroad hears of sights and customs in India

A slide tour of India highlighted the regular meeting of Travelers Abroad with about 30 members and guests present. President Walter Klein welcomed the group and introduced Dewey Milton, a member of the board of education, who presented facts relative to the school bond issue.

A discussion was held on the group's Christmas party with locations and prices from five sites being presented. The group voted to have a catered dinner at the St. John Lutheran Church on Dec. 10. The Rev. Samuel Boda will present a program on Oberammergau.

Marguerite Barker introduced Mrs. Marguerite Lexow, who presented a tour program entitled, "India Odyssey."

Sixteen people were in the tour group and their first stop was Narita, Japan, where they bought temple socks and plastic water bottles for use in India. From Narita they flew to Delhi, India, with refueling stops in both Hong Kong and Bangkok.

From their room in the beautiful Taj Palace, they could look down on a slum area in which the shacks had roofs made of cardboard and tin. The tour guide briefed the group on several "don'ts" before they started out: don't drink the water, don't eat any unwashed fruit, in the event of a power failure, eat vegetable dishes only — no meat; don't give to beggars; don't buy ivory and be sure to locate the candle in your room in case there is a power failure during a dust storm.

In Old Delhi, the group saw the cremation sites of Nehru and Gandhi and the famous Red Fort. The Red Fort, now occupied by the Army, was built by Shahjahan, who also had the Taj Mahal built.

While touring New Delhi, the group was told that 67 percent of the people are Hindu and 10 percent Muslim. The president of India, mainly a figurehead, lives in a 340-room mansion.

School attendance is not compulsory and there are few schools and teachers. Apartment buildings under construction are encased in bamboo scaffolding. Government hospital services are free, but one must wait his turn. They have no life insurance.

Sacred cows wander everywhere, grabbing food from street stalls to the dismay of the stall operators. The Hindus, who believe in reincarnation, do not eat meat. As the guide said, "It might be our grandmother that we would eat."

Marriages are still arranged by parents, particularly among older families and in the villages. Young people do not meet until their wedding day.

Mr. and Mrs. Lexow and the group encountered a late afternoon dust storm and their guide encouraged the driver to go faster to try to outrun it. The group made it back to their hotel just before it hit.

Just before dinner, a professor from the Delhi University spoke to them on Indian customs, but some of the tourists failed to show up. As they came in later, they remarked that their floor was without electricity, that they couldn't find their candles and it was almost impossible to find one's clothes in a suitcase in the dark. The severity of that storm kept all planes grounded for 24 hours.

The group flew next to Jaipur. In a conversation with an Indian passenger they learned that their hotel, the Rambhag Palace, was one of five palaces formerly owned by a maharajah. Because of high taxes and many wives and concubines, he was forced to sell two of the palaces. The passenger, wearing a beautiful blue silk sari, was adorned with diamond earrings, a gold nose stone, gold rings on both fingers and toes, and bangles on her arms and ankles.

In Jaipur, the tourists enjoyed a smooth ride on elephants up a steep hill to see the Amber Fort and palace. Indian musicians on foot accompanied them and monkeys jumped about in the trees and shrubs. This site was built during the 17th Century. After touring the palace, the group dined at the temple. The guide, checked their shoes with an attendant and visited the small white marble Temple of Kali. Later the group toured the "Pink City" of Jaipur and saw the famous Hawa Mahal or "The Palace of the Winds," where wives and concubines of the reigning maharajah sat behind the lattice windows and watched the streets without being seen. Only the pink sandstone front of this five-story palace remains today.

Enroute to Agra, the tour bus stopped at Fatehpur Sikri, an abandoned city built in 1569. This ghost city built of red sandstone contains an imperial mosque to hold 10,000 worshippers, a mausoleum with walls of marble lace, a public audience hall more than 350 feet long, and a Hall of Justice. A large courtyard is paved with black and white stones and here the Emperor played chess using slave girls as the figures. This city was abandoned only 14 years after construction because the water supply failed.

Arriving in Agra, the group viewed the Taj Mahal. Perfectly proportioned, it is built on two bases, the bottom, sandstone and the top, marble. On each corner of the marble base is a slender marble minaret. A rectangular pool bordered by dark cypresses, reflects the Taj Mahal.

Inside there is beautiful inlay work and marble screens. Precious stones are inlaid in the screens and the walls glow against the background of the white marble. One flower only a square inch in size contains 60 different inlays.

The Taj Mahal is called "A masterpiece in marble" and also a "Monument to Love." The Emperor Shahjahan built it to honor his wife who died in childbirth at age 39. It is reported that the shock of her death caused his hair to turn gray within a few months and he donned simple white muslin clothes instead of his royal robes. To build a memorial to surpass anything the world had ever seen, he brought in craftsmen from Persia, Turkey, Italy and France and used 20,000 laborers on the job. The tombs of both the Emperor and his wife are under the great dome of the Taj.

The Emperor had wanted a black marble memorial for himself, but his son thought he was wasting money so he deeded him and banished him to an island where he lived for seven years, looking out at the Taj Mahal.

From Jaipur the tour group flew the Varanasi, commonly known as Benares. This is the Holy City of the Hindu people. They have worshipped Shiva, the God of destruction and reincarnation for 3,500 years. In Benares there are more than 2,000 temples and shrines.

Arising before sunrise, the Lexows and their group took a boat ride on the holy Ganges River in order to see the stone steps of "Ghats," where Indians wash their sins away. These "Ghats" are over three miles long. Many people were milling around the "Ghats," as well as dogs and children. Mrs. Lexow reported that she was almost "run down" by a sacred cow with a mouthful of lettuce that was being chased by a shopkeeper.

While the group was on the river, they could see the smoke from the site where four bodies were being cremated. The Hindus believe that cremation will burn away any illusion that might keep a person from seeing the truth about himself. Also, unless a person has children to pray for his swift reincarnation, his soul may remain in hell indefinitely. Relatives of the deceased are housed at no expense in the hotels in the area for several days before the cremation.

Many Hindus believe that the Ganges River is a goddess. It is supposed to bring purity, wealth and fertility to those who bathe in it.

From Benares, the group flew to Kathmandu, the capital of Nepal. Nepal is wedged between giant China and sprawling India.

A Buddhist temple is called a Stupa. The Stupa is dome-shaped and has large eyes painted on the tower. People feel that Buddha is watching them. Buddha was born in Nepal 2,500 years ago and his ashes are in this Stupa, one of the largest in the world.

The famous Monkey Temple also is located there. Natives feed the monkeys and they run all over the temple eating and playing with flowers.

The tour group caught a brief glimpse of the Living Goddess as she appeared for a moment at her lattice window in the Kunvari Palace. The present Goddess is a 9-year-old girl and is worshipped by the Hindu people. Girls are chosen between ages 3 and 4 for their beauty, bravery and family background. If a girl passes the tests of remaining alone in a dark room for 12 hours and not being afraid of animals brought in to scare her, she may be selected. She leaves her family and lives in solitude, except for a servant and the worshippers. The average stay is 8 to 9 years. At puberty, she returns to her own family.

Copper prayer wheels are on some of the walls in Nepal, and these contain scrolls of Buddhist prayers. Each turn of the wheel is like a prayer being spoken.

The Lexows and two other couples were invited to a wedding held in a small restaurant high in the Himalaya Mountains. A young couple was among the tour members and had made plans through the American Embassy and a Methodist minister in Nepal for the wedding, complete with dinner and wedding cake. The bride was originally from Sweden and the groom from California, where they met. Both carried bouquets of flowers and wore garlands of flowers around their necks, the custom in Nepal. The wedding, conducted just before sunset, had the snow-covered Mt. Everest for the background. When the wedding party and guests returned to their hotel, a native band of musicians greeted them.

Bangkok, Thailand, was the next stop, where the group found many canals similar to those of Venice, Italy. A converted rice barge was the means of transportation on the canals, which are becoming clogged with lily vines.

The temples and palaces with their gold and jewels are like a fairyland. Mrs. Lexow remarked. The movie "The King and I" is not permitted to be shown here. The group went to the Golden Temple to see the Emerald Buddha, which is actually green jade. The Buddha is extra-large and has a 22-karat diamond on his forehead. The group wore temple socks and sat on the floor to view the Buddha. Ties were pointed away from the Buddha, they viewed the Feet, and especially shoes, are considered unholly. Only 2 percent of the people in Bangkok are Christian with 94 percent being Buddhists.

Approximately 85 percent of the business people are from China. The guide said that they come as immigrants and soon own stores and banks, even though they are unable to read or write.

The last stop on the tour was Hong Kong. A buffet luncheon at the Peak Tower Restaurant was followed by a visit to Repulse Bay, where people swim and light joss sticks at the feet of many of the Buddhas. A trip to the Aberdeen Fishing Village where 10,000 people live permanently on boats, and a trip on the Star Ferry to the famous Ocean Terminal Shopping Complex completed the tour.

PREPARING TO VOTE. Niedringhaus School first-grader Richard Bell prepares to mark his secret ballot at week during a mock election held by the gifted students. All of the children and the school staff at the school voted in the election which resulted in President Ronald Reagan defeating Walter Mondale 239 to 143 votes, which is just three percentage points higher for Reagan than the national election results Tuesday night. The gifted students conducted the mock election with all the elements of a real election including voter registration, properly-marked polling place, voter sign-in sheets and poll judges. A simplified ballot, including the donkey and elephant party symbols for the younger children, was used, which only included the two major candidates for president. 'Matern-a-cise' slated at SEMC

By JOYCE MITCHELL
St. Elizabeth Medical Center

St. Elizabeth Medical Center will be offering an exercise class specifically developed for expectant mothers.

The eight-week series, called "Matern-a-cise," will begin on Tuesday, Nov. 13. Classes will be conducted from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. in the Kettler Gym on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Developer of the program, Gwyn Iken, R.N., who will be teaching the classes, is the wife of Dr. Richard Iken, pediatrician on the staff of SEMC.

Mrs. Iken also has a bachelor's degree in theatre from the University of Missouri. Prior to moving to the area, she had combined her training in theatre and medicine to develop a dance-exercise program for the patients of a Kansas City, Mo. hospital.

Mrs. Iken, who is the mother of two small children, says she feels that exercise to control weight and maintain muscle tone is extremely important during pregnancy. She states that during her past pregnancies, she found most exercise programs to be too strenuous. She also admits that she felt rather unglamorous and awkward, working out with the slim young women in her regular class. "When you're six months pregnant and in lights, the last thing you need is to exercise next to a 24-inch waist," she said.

The Matern-a-cise classes are limited to 20 women. The program is for those less than seven-months pregnant and requires a physician's permit. Charge for the eight-week series is $30. Each session will include a warm-up, a 20-minute juice break and end with a relaxation exercise. Participants will need appropriate exercise clothes, gym shoes and a mat or blanket. To register, interested persons should call SEMC Public Relations Department at 798-3167.
